

When I eat at a Japanese restaurant, I compare the place to the best operation in that genre — in this case, the glorious Fujiya in downtown Tacoma. Kabuki is a couple of notches below Fujiya's expert menu, but presentations, in classy blue stone bowls and plates, were gorgeous.